Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1 and 17 are objected to because of the following informalities:

The “can” as recited in the claim is not a positive limitation. Appropriate correction is required. It does not add any patentable weight to the claims limitations. In order to continue with the examination, the examiner considers the term “can” as only a possibility.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Redmond (US 5176535A).

In regard to claims 1-11, Redmond's device discloses an electrical connector, the method comprising: providing at least one conductor (54); weaving the at least one conductor with at least one loading fiber (57) to define a woven connector with the tubular form, whereby the at least one conductor comprises multiple, distinct contact points (60); and biasing at least one of the distinct contact points with the at least one loading fiber, such that when the connector is connected to a mating connector, at least one of the distinct contact points is urged toward a mating conductor of the mating connector; the at least one of the distinct contact points is capable of moving away from the mating conductor because of the spring limitation features; the loading fiber being perpendicular to the conductor (see fig. 12). However, Redmond's device fails to disclose the method of making electrical contacts. Nonetheless, every limitation in the claims is also recited in the apparatus claims. The method of making electrical contacts is considered as an inherent feature.

In regard to claims 12-26, Redmond's device discloses the aforementioned limitations including the undulation features of the conductor, the particle traps formed by the conductors and the loading fibers (see fig. 12).

Conclusion

3. All the references cited on the "reference cited form": PTO-892 also show the claims features and limitations.
